PRIMITIVE PEOPLE.

THE WILD AND UNTAMED DWELLERS IN NORTH MOUNTAIN, VA.

pearance and Uncouth Manners of the Mountaineers-Having a Good Time-

The Original "Breakdown." To the visitors here the appearance of SYMPTOMS: Bitter or bad taste these people was a revelation. That the mountaineer was not possessed of an ordimountaineer was not possessed of an ordinary education was no surprise to them, but they were not prepared in this nineteenth century to gaze upon a reproduction of primitive man. Saturday is generally set aside as a sort of holiday by them. From within a radius of tweets them. From within a radius of twenty them. From within a radius of tweller, thick, years appearance miles they come with their families, a dry cough: faver; restlessness; the urine babies and all, to the city, as Orkney is scanty and high colored, and, if allowed stand, deposits a sediment.

The women are a little more shy, and evidently the more ignorant of the sexes, if that were possible. This may be due to the fact that the males are oftener within the pales of civilization. Some of them chew tobacco like the men, while others smoke pipes. So much for their personal appearance and manner. GARMENTS NOT FASHIONABLE. As to their garments, it did not require a connoisseur to determine that they were not designed by a Parisian modiste. The males were loose sacks of cheap goods and pants to match. Everything was loose and flowing, implying a love of comfort and plenty of room. Nearly all comfort and plenty of room. had on black slouch hats, with flat crown and broad brims. The male childre were attired in jackets that hung abou them like sacks, and immensely wide brown jeans pants, shaped something like the old-style peg-tops. It was the female Downey, south, and Anaheim, Santa Avr., attire, however, that attracted the most Tustin, Orange and Westminster, in the attention. Such a combination of colors candidacy no countenance. You have read Santa Ava Valley, in the southeastern part is rarely seen. Yellow and red predom of the county. Upon each of these several inated. The material, as a rule, was cot ton print, and the style a vigorous plaid A majority of the crowd wore loud co ors, while the dames were attired in gowns of some dark stuff and sunbonnets Around the neck and shoulders the bodice Temperance Union Says of the Dow fitted snugly, but from the armpits down they looked like Mother Hubbards. It under was generally remarked that few word corsets. The flat shoes left a solid prin on the soft ground, and the head-gear of the more youthful, which, like the attire, suggested comfort, was flat and wide.

There were about 200 on the grounds last Saturday, and, had the weather been less threatening, there would probably have been many more. They came to have good time, and they had it. The music first attracted their attention. They gath ered about the little round-house listeners underwent a change. The old of workingmen. He has performed ten times the amount of manual labor that his opponent has in his lifetime, and has ever had a gotten to take practical results into consideration. He has performed ten times these matters from a purely theoretical dance. It was the old breakdown, rendered in a manual that would have excited the envy of a song and-dance man. He was the original of which the guests He was the original, of which the guests MAN-EATER AND PARTNER.

This time they selected "Sallie in the Garden," the well-known "Buzzard" air The women thought the men had danced enough, so they prevailed upon two of their number to start the ball. A tall, slim woman in black, about 45 years of age, with a shaker bonnet, and a girl of 18 responded. There was no winging, as is seen at tough balls in your city, but the side steps and shuffles were immense. They tossed themselves all over the board, affording infinite amusement to the speciators. For five minutes they it up until the musicians were tired out. It was an endurance match, and the aged dancer carried off the prize. When complimented on her performance she remarked, with a proud toss of her head: "O, I'm a hard-working woman, I am," and she looked it. Late at night the picnickers started for home, which many did not reach until the following morning.-Cor. Baltimore American

Fencing in the Lions.

While a circus was parading in Kingston, Can., recently, a wagon containing den of lions was overturned and the top of the den knocked off. A fire was built around the cage to keep the lions in until repairs were made, and then the wagon righted by the aid of two elephants. -New York Sun.
